Column One by David Courtney

Israel's attitude to Sir Anthony Eden's recent mediation initiative has been not only negative but also extremely thoughtful. As an Englishman and a political commentator of sorts, I feel there must be some other explanation of this latest attitude than the one usually given. For if, as I believe, Britain is not acting out of ill-will towards Israel, then can it be the motive of a response that assumes the worst? Here, then, I give my personal opinion of what that motive may be.

ISRAEL'S stand is, of course, comprehensible. When you come to think of it, peace—even a good peace—sounds like a not very attractive prospect. That is to say, if nobody in the world believes in the inevitability of war, nobody in Israel believes in the inevitability of peace. Therefore it can be argued that the only kind of peace worth having is the kind that carries its own defense and the partners in which have something like equality in arms. It is a cynical way of looking at peace but the whole world, for one reason or another, has become cynical about peace, and tends to think of it as a dispensation suspended tentatively between wars.

ANYWAY, that seems a possible explanation of the Israel standpoint on the subject of the kind of peace most Israelis think Sir Anthony Eden had in mind when he spoke at the Guildhall on November 9. It is also a likely explanation of that standpoint on the kind of peace which I believe the British Prime Minister really had—or at any rate has—in mind. Now, I am not ignoring the question of 'the Negro' if Sir Anthony Eden contemplates taking the Negro from Israel and giving it to someone else, he is certain to be disappointed and probably deserves to be. But if, as I believe, he contemplates nothing of the kind, even then, I suppose, he must prepare for disappointment at least for the time being because a certain "prior condition" to peace has come about which has not usually been included in the "prior condition" of which so much has been heard.

WHAT prior condition, as I see it, is a matter of armament. The slogan "Peace through Strength" is applicable as applicable in this segment of the world as it is in the larger world of the great Power blocs. And if one side to potential peace negotiations is piling up arms as fast as it can, it is perhaps not unreasonable that the other should want to pile them up as well until each side can sit and talk with his back to his own mountain of arms.

IF this argument accounts for the recent alarming remarks about the military weakness of Israel and the capacity of the Arab, in certain circumstances, to cut Israel in two within 72 hours, it may also account for official insistence that British mediators plans foresee the wholesale dismemberment of Israel. For my part, I hope the second assumption is based on nothing better in the way of facts than the first and that the talk both of military weakness and of British ill-will to Israel is designed in the interests of a fair enough policy honestly comes by—the urgent need for more arms brought about by the supply of Soviet arms to Egypt.

THERE is, for example, a Washington message to the effect that State Department sources have confirmed reports of a new $200 million Egyptian arms contract with Czechoslovakia. It represents a lot of arms. No matter. There is the report and there, apparently, is the confirmation. Well, then, who can be expected to make peace without having a few dollars' worth to show for himself?

IF I have read this problem right, it is not so much Sir Anthony Eden's supposed intentions, much less his Guildhall Phrasology, that is the trouble; but, for example, jet fighters. Perhaps that, too, is what Mr. Ben-Gurion means when he says that "peace between Israel and her neighbors is possible on the basis of equality"—that is to say, not merely equality as sovereign nations but also as armed nations. The pity is that Egypt should have thought it necessary to raise the equality stakes by shiploads of Communist arms.

PARIS, Monday (UP).—Former Premier M. Pierre Mendes-France enlisted fresh allies from both left and right today for the election campaign against his old friend Premier Edgar Faure. Several powerful left-wing Socialist federations named candidates favoring close partnership with Mendes-France. Mr. Faure was becoming leader of the opposition forces in fact as well as in hope. Tomorrow, the Socialists will make their final decision on a national level. Their National Council is meeting in Paris, but the Socialist Federation in the Gers, Sarthe, Haut Rhin and Pyrénées Orientales departments have already named candidates who support Mendes-France. Only the Herault Department Federation approved by a slender majority a motion favoring the electoral alliance with the Communists. A Socialist alliance will not suffice to ensure victory for Mendes, but he hopes to work out similar electoral pacts with the Union of Socialist and Democratic Resistance (UDSR) and the left-wing Gaullists. A Gaullist leader, 40-year-old Bordeaux Mayor Chaban-Delmas, who during the Liberation emerged as 29 as the youngest French general since the fall of Napoleon, is busy touring French provinces to win support for Mendes, and so is UDSR President Francois Mitterand.

Nehru Raps Baghdad Pact Members

NEW DELHI, Monday.—Premier Jawaharlal Nehru, speaking in the Lower House today, criticized the Baghdad pact, and said the action of its members, Turkey, Iraq, Britain and Pakistan, was "deplorable." He also said that a U.S.-Portuguese statement on Friday criticizing Soviet states was "a matter of far-reaching consequence." He declined to elaborate. Meanwhile, the U.S. Ambassador, Mr. John R. Cooper, was summoned to the External Affairs Ministry amid a new wave of anti-American feeling produced by the joint statement on Goa by the American and Portuguese Foreign Ministers. Embassy officials said they considered the statement as the biggest diplomatic blunder the U.S. could have made, and said it inflamed the Indians more than American aid to Pakistan. Mr. Cooper was believed that Mr. Cooper would receive a sharp protest from External Affairs Minister Sushil Dutt. (Reuter, UP)

Iraqi Snubbed in U.N. Political Body Debate

UNITED NATIONS, Monday (UP).—The Iraqi delegate to the Political Committee of the U.N. General Assembly was brought to order by the Chairman of the Committee when he utilized today's session on the question of disarmament. The Iraqi delegate, Mr. Ishtar Harari, M.P., interrupted the speech by the Iraqi delegate to make an attack on Israel. He said that the Israeli delegation would have no objection to a debate on the Israel-Arab dispute, provided the Israeli delegate was given an opportunity to reply. This was the second time the Iraqi delegate had been called to order on account of his remarks, the first time having been when he referred to Algeria as an area of conflict and was also ruled out of order.

LEBANON SEEN BREAKING INACTON OF REFUGEES

The Lebanese Foreign Ministry favors the Canadian offer to receive Arab refugee immigrants "for their own sake," NEABS reported from Beirut last night. There had been no other official Arab reaction to this offer as yet, except for adverse Syrian press comment, but it is expected that the Lebanese attitude would draw severe criticism from the Arab League.

MIG'S FOR 2 GERMAN BERLIN, Monday (UP).—Russia has sent the first MIG-15 jet fighters to the East German air force, Western intelligence officials said today.

40 Die as Algerian Rebels Raid Village

ALGIERS, Monday (Reuter).—Forty persons were killed yesterday in an outbreak of fighting in a village, near the frontier between Algeria and Tunisia, it was reported today. The reports, delayed by sabotage of telephone and telegraph communications, said the outlaws, mingled with market crowds and fired at police.

The police returned the fire and troops surrounded the village. Thirty-one dead were found on the scene. Another nine persons died when a bus in which the outlaws were trying to escape, crashed into a ditch after being challenged by an army patrol.

Reports said the outlaws boarded the bus in the market place and headed out of the village. The driver ignored orders to stop, and one of the outlaws fired at the soldiers. The soldiers then fired back and wounded the driver, and the bus toppled into a ditch.

French forces have inflicted heavy losses on rebels in the Aurès mountains, forcing the outlaws to become more cautious, and maintaining pin-prick raids on patrols. In neighbouring Morocco, two rebels were killed and wounded when security forces fired on a mob which ransacked and burned European shops and hotels in Marrakech today. The rebels burst just after the funeral of a Moroccan taxi driver found dead with his throat cut. A rumour spread through the Arab quarter that he had been murdered by Europeans, and this quickly brought out mobs who attacked European-owned establishments.

Meany Elected Head Of American Unions

NEW YORK, Monday (UP).—Mr. George Meany, 61-year-old union leader who began his career as a "cousin" plumber, was today elected President of the AFL-CIO, putting him at the helm of some 16 million organized workers. The election of Mr. Meany was agreed upon in advance by the AFL-CIO, the two labor groups. It came at the inaugural ceremony of the AFL-CIO here. The Convention brought together under one roof for the first time in 20 years representatives of most of organized labor in the U.S. The AFL-CIO President, Mr. Walter Reuther, said that Meany, 45 minutes earlier, grasping a single gavel and clasping hands, they had jointly opened the inaugural convention.

Greeks Said Guilty Of Cairo Explosion

CAIRO, Monday.—The Ministry of Interior and the Governor of Alexandria have arrested during an investigation of a possible Cyprus terrorist movement. The Greek Consulate here announced today that it had no knowledge of Greeks having been arrested.

Israel Starts U.N. Debate On Airline Safety

UNITED NATIONS, Monday (Reuter).—Israel today presented a resolution to the Security Council of the General Assembly asking all Governments to take the necessary measures to prevent recurrence of attacks on civil aircraft in international air space. The Committee is debating the question of the safety of commercial planes. This was requested by Israel following the shooting down of an Israeli aircraft by Bulgarian fighters on July 23 with the loss of 58 lives. Quick approval of the resolution was blocked today when the wordings of the request, the debate adjourned until tomorrow when it is hoped to complete action on the resolution. Mr. Michael Comay, Ambassador to Canada, told the Committee the resolution was offered as a non-controversial one and was not directed at any state. China, Belgium, France, Britain, the U.S. and India all supported the resolution on humanitarian grounds.

SYRIA JAILS ARMY MAN AS AGENT FOR ISRAEL

A member of the Syrian army, Abdul Latif Istawani, was sentenced on Sunday to 20 years' imprisonment at hard labour on a charge of passing military information about the Syrian air force to Israel. (ANA)

IL1,000 FOR TOY FUND IN ONE DAY

Tension mounted dramatically yesterday as hectic preparations were made by the Toy Fund for the first gift-bearing police trucks which are due to leave tomorrow. The high point was also reached in cash contributions for any one day when IL1,069,575 came in. The total is now IL4,361,650. With horse and cart, Mrs. Ethel Cohen of the Herta collection, the first consignments which is already in. An anonymous Kfar Aza woman has brought in sackloads from the only school in Kiryat Ben-Gurion. She reports that the toys were in better condition than those given in most better-off places. A Haifa father on his way to work looked like a juggler as he staggered up the steps of The Jerusalem Post office to deliver his daughter's gifts. Eight-year-old Ilana Dagan is an old-timer at giving and when her father suggested she keep one of the five balls, she firmly informed him that they were all going. Mr. Isidor Goldstein of New York and Los Angeles, a regular visitor to Israel, yesterday made good his wish of last year when he did not get to Israel.

Macmillan Says Negotiations On Cyprus Continue

LONDON, Monday (Reuter).—Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan said today that the British were conducting negotiations in Cyprus with a view to bridging the gap between the positions of the different peoples concerned. He was opening a Commons debate requested by the Labour opposition on the troubles in the Mediterranean island colony.

Mr. Macmillan warned that a gesture of abdication by Britain would be "grave and disastrous" and would bring about "other people who depend upon us as one of the main buttresses in the defence of freedom and democracy both in NATO and the Middle East."

Mr. James Griffiths (Labour) pointed out that Archbishop Makarios, leader of the movement for independence, was a "other people who depend upon us as one of the main buttresses in the defence of freedom and democracy both in NATO and the Middle East."

Briton, 2 Cypriots Killed in Ambush

NICOSIA, Monday (Reuter).—Terrorist gunmen today ambushed British army and police vehicles in the mountains of south-west Cyprus and killed three persons. Cut down by automatic fire was a British commando, a Cypriot policeman and a Cypriot civilian. Another commando was wounded. The civilian was a cyclist who happened to be riding by. The ambushers staged their attack from the cover of thick pine forests covering the mountain slopes near Amalofos, south-west of Nicosia, while the two vehicles were winding along a tortuous road. The ambush climaxed a day of renewed terrorist attacks, mainly centred in Famagusta, and brought to seven the total of British servicemen killed in the past six weeks.

Families Threatened A quick-thinking Turkish special constable saved the lives of three British soldiers in Famagusta today by jumping on the tanking fuel of a bomb thrown by a terrorist at a table in a restaurant where the soldiers were lunching.

Eden to Confer With Eisenhower

LONDON, Monday (UP).—Sir Anthony Eden announced today that he and his Foreign Secretary, Mr. Harold Macmillan, are to go to Washington for talks with President Eisenhower for a few days commencing on January 20. He broke the news of his visit to the Commons this afternoon simultaneously with his release in Gettysburg, Md. P.M. He added that he would proceed to Canada from Washington.

USA State Department sources in Washington are saying that the major objective of the Eden-Macmillan mission is to plan counter-strategy to Soviet moves in the Middle East.

Burns to Cairo For Talks on Cease-Fire

Jerusalem Post Reporter
The Chief of Staff of the U.N. Truce Supervision Organization, Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, will leave for Cairo tomorrow to discuss with the Egyptian Government a cease fire on the borders and other matters pertaining to the Israel-Egyptian armistice.

Police Guard Hill Above Tel Katzir

Jerusalem Post Reporter
TIBERIAS, Monday.—A strong police contingent posted since the week-end on a hilltop south-east of Tel Katzir, which is a strategic point in the Galilee, while going about their daily tasks in the fields near the Syrian border. Syrian army units and irregulars have recently been harassing the farmers by periodic sniping, and some settlers have been wounded in the frequent attacks. Lately Syrian shepherds have been joining in the game by crossing the border and trying to settle down on the demilitarized hill. Complete quiet has reigned since the police occupied the hill which controls Tel Katzir's fields. The Chairman of the Israel-Syrian M.A.C., Colonel J.E.L. Castonguay, visited the area today in the company of Rav-Seren S. Tepper, senior Israel delegate to the M.A.C.

EGYPTIANS DRIVEN BACK TO GAZA STRIP

An Israel patrol yesterday opened fire on two Egyptian soldiers who crossed into Israel territory in the vicinity of Klufim in the Western Negev, the army spokesman announced. The Egyptian soldiers withdrew across the lines into the Gaza Strip.

G.Z. Discuss Support for Eshkol

Jerusalem Post Reporter
The General Zionist Knesset faction is now holding a series of meetings with Mr. Levi Eshkol to consider their support for a wage and profits freeze. The meetings began last week and are expected to continue today or tomorrow. No session was held yesterday. The Minister of Finance last week asked Mr. Zalman Sussayef, M.K., whether his party would be prepared to cooperate with the Treasury on this issue although they are in the opposition. Whereupon Mr. Sussayef called a meeting of his colleagues to discuss the matter with Mr. Eshkol. It is understood that the Gen-

Eshkol: New Budgets Won't Affect Prices

The Jerusalem Post Knesset Reporter
The Minister of Finance, Mr. Levi Eshkol, presenting the IL113m supplementary budget to the Knesset yesterday, said that it was meant to give an answer to six fundamental requirements:

- Absorption of accelerated immigration from North Africa.
- Covering of drought damage.
- Completion of development projects to increase their output and exports.
- Improvement of social services.
- Salary increases of civil servants.
- Reserve and stocks of goods to strengthen our security position.

There was no intention of levying any new direct or indirect taxes to finance the budget, Mr. Eshkol said, and it would therefore have no effect on prices. He charged that the very fact of the presentation of the budget would have induced the Government to say that about every budget, he said, that this time there is no basis for such a claim.

A major portion of Mr. Eshkol's 80-minute speech was devoted to the first of the six problems, that of immigration. He stated that the supplementary budget was to be used for the acquisition of Palestine Electric Corporation shares, and the other authorizing it to expand the IL120m expected to be raised by the Defence Fund. Five speakers spoke yesterday in the debate which is expected to last until next week. There will be only one Knesset session today, to permit members to attend a reception in the evening given by the President in their honour.

Inflation DANGER

Mr. Eshkol declared that the amount of the supplementary budget was, in effect, not IL113m, but only IL100m, since it made provision for a reserve of IL10m, and for the repayment of debts in the amount of IL12m. The danger of inflation did not have its source in the present budget, but in the rise of prices for demands for increased profits and wages, and from increased consumption at the expense of foreign exchange. The serious plight of North African Jewry had impelled the Government and the Jewish Agency to speed up the rate of their immigration to at least 45,000 in the coming year. Mr. Eshkol said, this meant additional expenditure for housing, social services and work projects. About 60 per cent of the budget would be allocated to the 15 per cent allocated for drought relief; 15 per cent for development projects; 15 per cent for social services and increased civil service wages; 15 per cent for posts and transport; and the rest for miscellaneous expenditure. Everyone was agreed on the importance of expanding our industry and increasing our exports, and the budget allocated close to IL113m, to complete and
